

Trial Churn Project

WIX

How to use this deck?

This deck outlines our research on trial churn and following recommendations in two parts:

→ Part 1: The flow – Analysis of the cancellation flow itself and systemic opportunities to improve retention

→ Part 2: Deep dives – Focused investigations into specific churn reasons, each with targeted recommendations

Each part includes: Executive summary, recommendations summary, and the analysis, gaps and recommendations we have.

The deck is updated as analysis progresses. Use the links below to navigate directly to each section.

Background & Motivation

For the 2nd year in a row, we are expected to have a negative net adds in subscriptions

*Net Additions to 2025 are estimations only

Trial churn is growing: 1 in 12 Premiums purchased were canceled within trial (last 4Qs)

*Data is from Q1-2023 to Q3-2025; total lost collections and trial churn rate are for the last 4 Qs

In all calculations we exc. Administrative close which are are cancelations made by Wix (mostly fraud)

Our goal to reduce trial churn

The Cancellation Flow

Executive Summary - Churn Flow

- The problem - For the second year in a row, we're losing more premiums than we're gaining. Trial churn is a growing contributor - 1 in 12 premium purchases are canceled within the trial period.
- What we found - 95% of users who start cancellation flow within trial end up churning. Optional three structural gaps are driving this:
 - Users don't see the value they're losing (same generic message for all tiers)
 - Solution matching is weak (75% get "contact support," only 6% engage with offers)
 - Post-cancellation is a dead end (no re-engagement, unlike competitors)
- The opportunity - Targeted changes to the flow, better reason-solution matching, and post-cancellation initiatives can reduce trial churn and keep users in the ecosystem.
- Recommendations - Personalize the flow to the Premium plan the user have; Adding more cancelation reasons and improve solution matching; Re-engage users post cancellation;

Recommendations Summary - Churn Flow

Recommendation	What we want to test	Why	Est. monthly exposure
Personalized value screen	Show users tier-specific, cycle-aware consequences (e.g., domain changes, storage usage) instead of generic message	Higher tiers/cycles lose more, but we show everyone the same message	80K Premiums (15% within trial)
New reasons dropdown	Replace vague reasons with specific, actionable options that enable better solution matching	75% get "Contact CC"; vague reasons limit our ability to offer relevant solutions	78K Premiums
Better solution matching	Map each churn reason to a tailored solution instead of defaulting to "Contact CC"	When we offer personalized solutions, click rate is 70% higher	78K Premiums
New end-of-flow experience	Add a re-engagement screen at end of flow: highlight what users keep on free, prompt to return	Users who stay active have 17% repurchase rate; competitors re-engage, we don't	75K Premiums
Screen order test	Show reasons + solutions screen before the easy "confirm cancel" screen	Showing solutions before users build "cancel momentum" may increase engagement	80K Premiums
Extended trial (Option A)	Offer +1 month trial to users canceling in last 4 days or citing "not enough time"	10% of churners fit this segment. Shopify does this	1.2K Premiums (late trial churn)
Keep premium features active (Option B)	Let users keep premium features for X days after cancellation	Users may reconsider if they don't lose features immediately. Canva does this	12K Premiums (trial churn)
Pause plan (Option C)	Offer subscription pause (freeze billing for X months) instead of cancel	Directly addresses "not ready" and "budget" reasons. YouTube Premium does this	80K Premiums (15% within trial)

Agenda

- The problem - why trial churn matters now?
- What we found - Three opportunity areas in the cancellation flow
 - Users don't see the value they are losing
 - Solutions don't match user needs
 - End of flow does not re-engage users
- Post cancellation initiatives - Three options to keep users engaged
- Quick win - Screen order test
- Next steps - Churn reasons, focus areas and priorities

What We Found: The Cancellation Flow

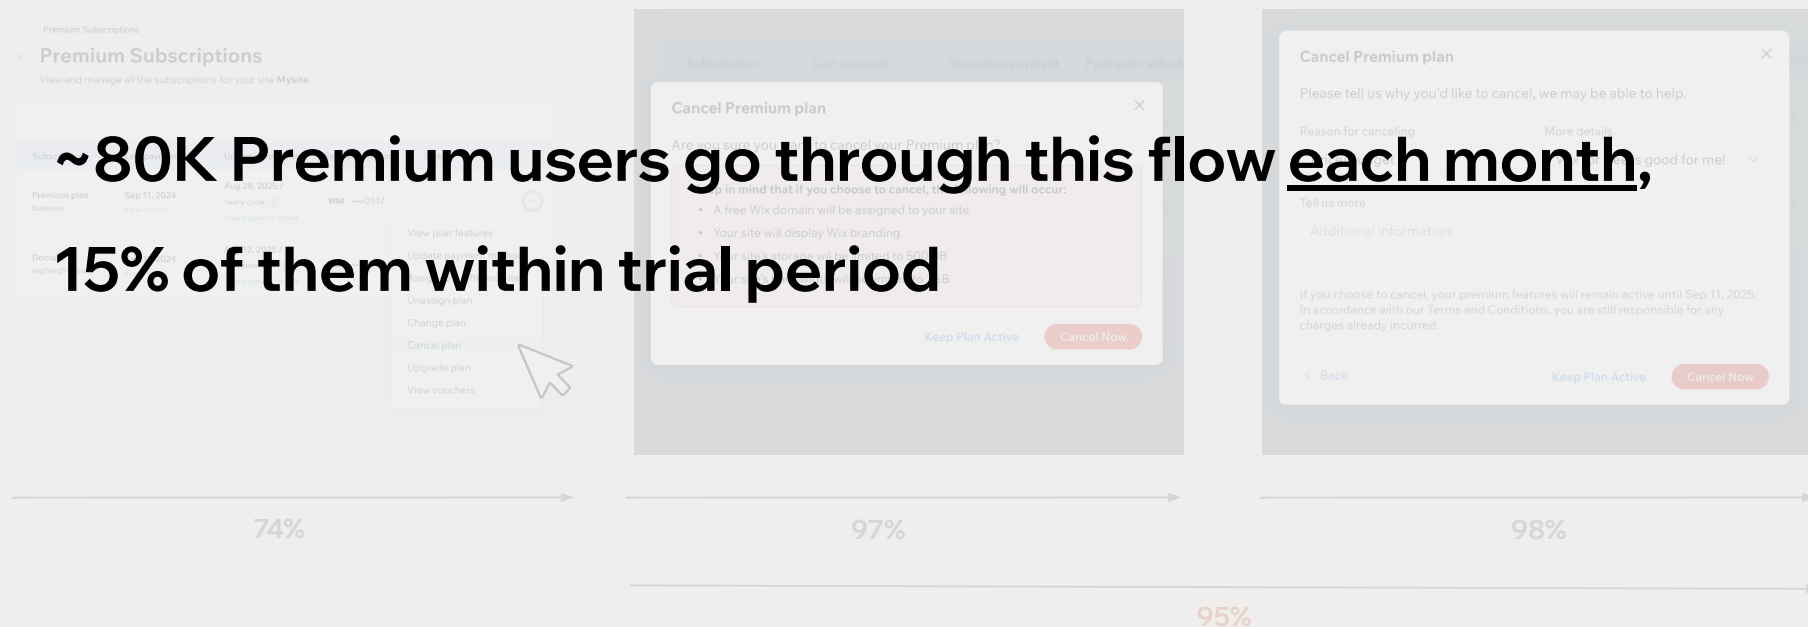

Once users started cancelation flow, we aren't able to change their mind

From starting the cancelation flow to a successful cancellation, we save only 5% of users

*Data is for Q3-2025 on user level, trial churn only

Once users started cancelation flow, we aren't able to change their mind
From starting the cancelation flow to a successful cancellation, we save only 5% of users

Three optional gaps are driving this

Users Don't See What They're Losing

Throughout the flow, we are not highlighting enough the value that users are losing by cancelling

Solutions Don't Match Needs

75% receive a generic 'contact customer care' offering or no offering at all; users are not using the solutions they get

Post-Cancellation is a Dead End

At the end of the flow, we don't re-engage users or prompt them to recognize what they're missing - unlike competitors.

Opportunity 1: Users do not see the value that they are losing

Same generic message shown regardless of plan tier

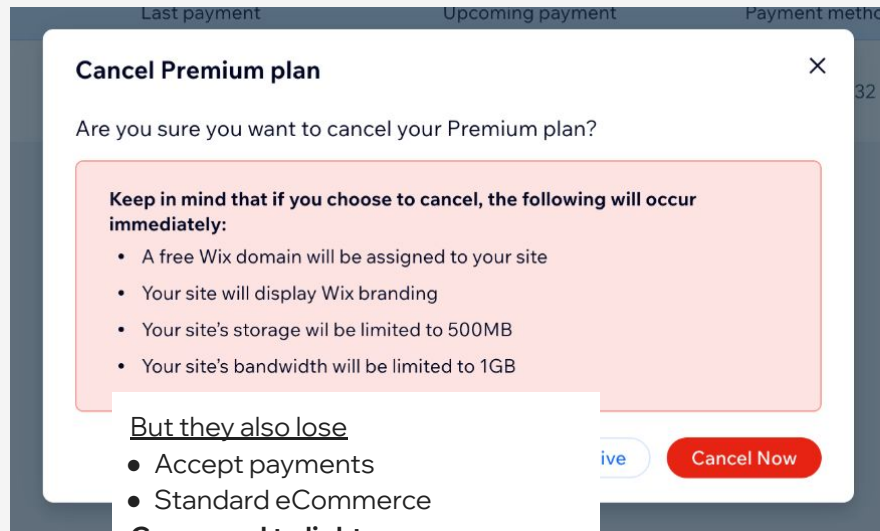

Same consequences for all – even though higher tiers lose more

Users on longer cycles or higher premium tiers have more to lose, but we don't show them

Light

Business

But they also lose

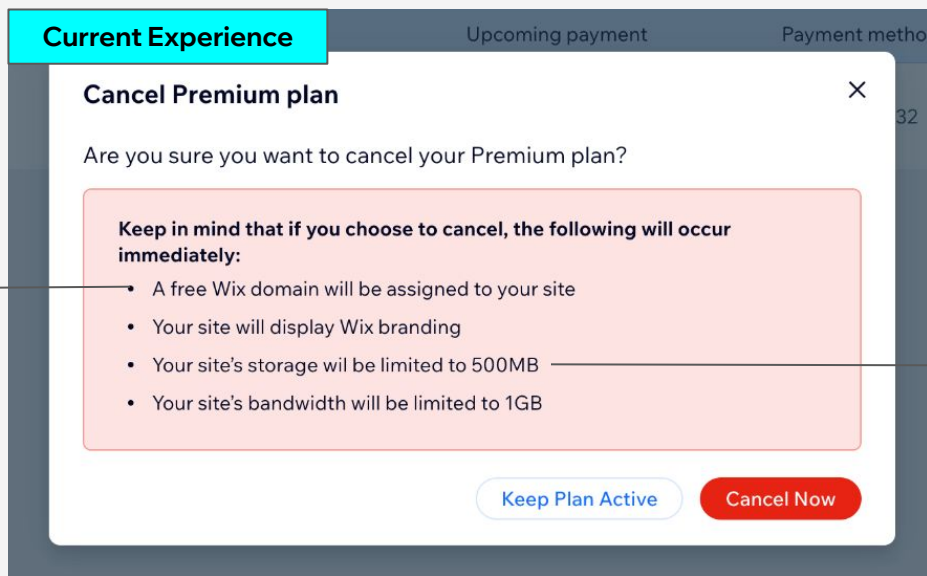

- Accept payments
- Standard eCommerce

Compared to light:

- 8 more collaborators
- 98GB more of storage
- Higher tier marketing suite

The effect of their actions is not necessarily clear enough

~70% of yearly+ trial churn are canceling without claiming the voucher nor connecting a domain, so this message is not relevant to them

*How much have I used?
How much do I have now?*

Recommendation: Personalized value screen

What will actually happen - personalized to the user's usage and Premium cycle and product

Opportunity 2: Solutions do not match user needs

Generic offer and weak issue-solution matching lead to low engagement

Today: Users select a reason, and we offer a solution

Before final cancellation, users choose a churn reason and receive a suggested solution

But generic reasons lead to generic solutions - and users don't engage

- 75% of canceling users received "Contact Customer Care" – 18% of these had selected "Other" as their reason
- Among the remaining 25%: only 18% received personalized offers, 3% got text-only messages, 4% received no suggestion at all
- Only 6% clicked on any solution presented
- When offered something other than "Contact CC," click rate is 70% higher

Key takeaways:

- The current matching between user needs and solutions is weak
- Vague cancellation reasons limit our ability to offer relevant solutions

Users select "other" because their real reason is not available

All of these users were offered "Contact Customer Care" as their solution.

"I am not sure of how to connect to my domain and I am having difficulties"

"was told domain not available"

"I want to change my business plan and need time to rethink my website"

"I am unable to link my domain as it is"

"Domain no longer available"

"My site will take more time before getting published and hence I dont need the premium features now"

We can group these into new reasons - and offer better solutions

Opportunity 3: Post-cancellation is a dead end

We lose users entirely instead of keeping them in the ecosystem

Users who stay active on free are more likely to repurchase

- When users churn within trial, the majority do not return: 91% never repurchase, and 72% bounce-off Wix. The 9% who do repurchase show strong retention - only 8% bounce.
- The reverse is also true: users who remain active are more likely to repurchase as Premiums. Users who return to Wix the day after canceling have a 17% repurchase rate - double the average - and accounting for 57% of all repurchases.

The opportunity: Keep churned users engaged on the free platform to increase eventual repurchase rates.

Quick win: test reordering the cancellation screens

- Current flow: Easy screen (confirm cancel) → Hard screen (reasons + solutions + then canceling). This flow builds “cancellation momentum” and come to the solutions already committed mentally.

Post-Cancellation Initiatives

Three options to keep churned users engaged

The 'regret churn' opportunity

- 8% of trial churned users are repurchasing within the same Q.
- Half of them, are repurchasing the exact same premium plan, and they are doing it relatively fast (11 hours). Those who changed, needed much more time to decide to come back.
- It may suggest that this group “rushed” into cancellation and could be saved, among others who did not repurchased.

Repurchase Type	Users	Share	Median Hours to Repurchase
1 - Changed both product & cycle	351	13.1%	100 hrs (~4 days)
2 - Changed product only	593	22.2%	54 hrs (~2.3 days)
3 - Changed cycle only	336	12.6%	21 hrs (~1 day)
4 - Same product & cycle	1,397	52.2%	11 hrs (~half a day)

Extended trial (like Shopify)

- Why: Users who cancel in the last 4d of trial (5%) and users who cited not having enough time as churn reason (6%) are more likely to stay if they will have more time to complete (~1.2K Premiums a month).
- Benefits: Provides additional time to continue working and being more “invested” in their sites
- Risks: The cost of providing Premium features “for free” for more time without retaining enough users

Keep premium features active until trial ends (like Canva)

- Why: Maintaining premium access after cancellation (until the trial expires) keeps users engaged with premium value, creating a re-activation window (relevant for all trial churn, ~12K Premiums a month).
- Benefits: Users feel fairly treated and have time to explore premium features before losing access.
- Risks: Potential abuse (users buying plans intending to cancel) and may accelerate trial churn by removing immediate loss aversion.

Pause plan (like YouTube)

- Why: Pause feature gives users an alternative to permanent cancellation - allowing them to temporarily suspend their plan rather than cancel entirely (relevant for all churn, ~80K Premiums a month).
- Benefits: Retains users who need more time; maintains relationship and makes reactivation easier; reduces immediate churn and increases eventual reactivations;
- Risks: Potential revenue loss during pause periods without guaranteed reactivation

Domain Related Churn

Recommendations Summary - Domain Related Churn

What we want to test	Why	Target Population and est. Exposure	Est. impact (out of TAM)
Resurface yearly value on domain flow	Motivation is to promote monthly users with intent domain to switch up to yearly package while they are “still the purchase flow”.	Monthly users with domain intent	$750K ($3M)
Highlight free voucher later in journey + in cancel flow	Users searching for domains don't always want to connect immediately after purchasing premium. Free 1-year domain is a valuable included benefit and connecting a domain increases commitment.	Yearly users not claiming voucher	$500K ($3.4M)

Executive Summary - Domain Related Churn

- The problem - Trial churn is growing and putting pressure on net additions; domain-related reasons are a key driver of trial churn - 4% explicitly cited domain related issues as main reason for churn, and ~25% of trial churn attempted connecting a domain and failed.
- What we found - Two distinct user segments churn due to domain friction:
 - Monthly users with domain intent churn within 13h of domain search; only 3.5% buy a domain. Root causes: price “shock” (monthly + yearly domain), expected free domain with monthly, or existing domain issues.
 - Yearly users with free voucher – 52% never reach the domain claim page. They're not ready to claim immediately and don't realize they can claim later.
- Recommendations
 - For monthly users: Resurface yearly plan value when users show domain intent – redirect to cycle switch from domain flow
 - For yearly users: Highlight free voucher later in journey (Setup page) + personalize cancel flow to emphasize unclaimed voucher

Opportunity 1: Monthly users with domain intent switch-up to yearly

This group is more likely to switch-up to an yearly plan if they already have a domain or an intent to purchase one

These users might have had unmet domain expectations in their monthly plan

- These users churned relatively close to their domain search (median time is 13h)
- Only 3.5% of them purchased a domain

It suggests that these users had existing domain connection issues, expected a 1-year free domain to be included in their monthly plan or the total price of monthly Premium + yearly domain was too high for them.

On Premium cycle selection, we highlight that choosing monthly does not include the 1-year free domain voucher

Estimated Potential

- Potential Gain: Monthly that churned will stay and switch up to an Yearly plan in order to get a 1-year free domain voucher.
 - 3K quarterly trial-churned after failing connecting a domain → saving 25% of these churned users worth ~$750K a year.
- Risks: Monthly users who did not churn, and then renewed, will now churn due to the change in their domain flow.

Opportunity 2: Yearly users not claiming free domain

Connecting a domain increases commitment and reduces likelihood of churn

The other 38% are users who churned from Yearly+ plans

Trial Churn Premium Plan Cycles

Half of the users who churned did not proceed to the domain flow after purchasing

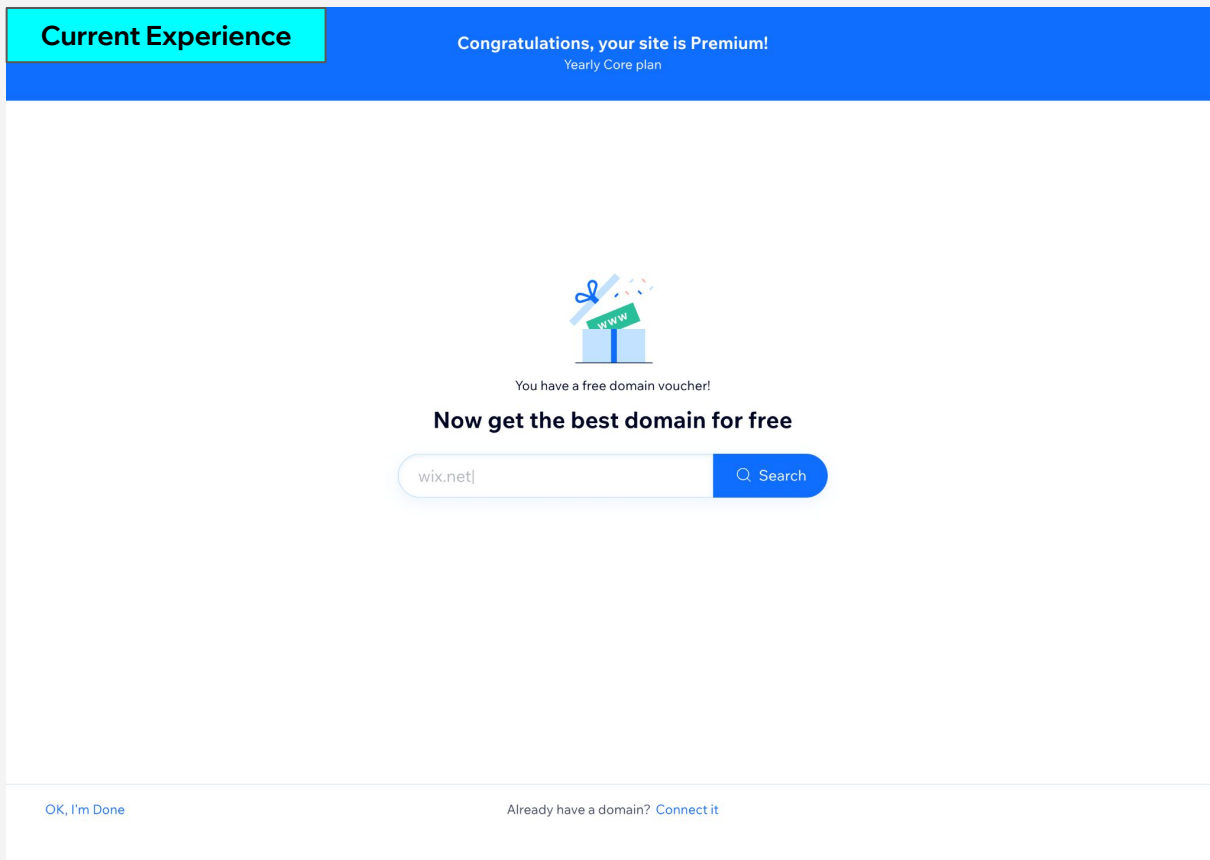

Trial Churn Premium Plan Cycles

→ Even though Premium flow ends with prominent EPs to domain, and these users have a 1-year free voucher, 52% did not reach the “domain cycle” page.

It may suggest that these users are not ready yet to claim the voucher.

Success screen after Premium purchase promotes purchasing a domain

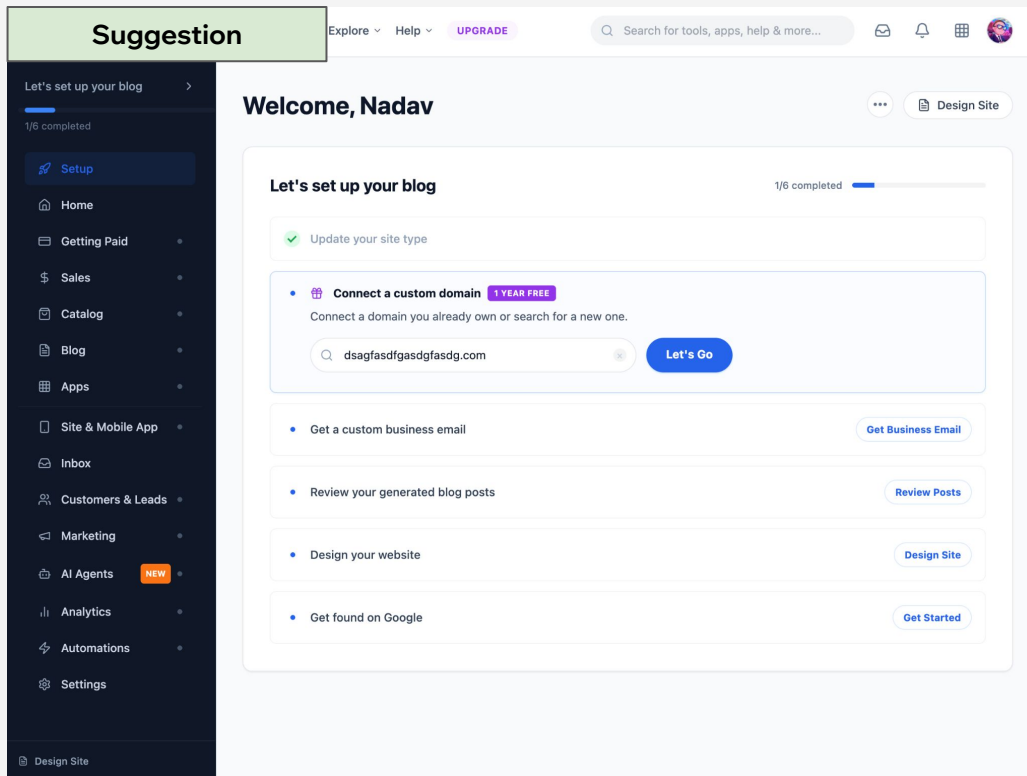

Opportunity: Re-engaging users with their free domain later in their journey can reduce churn

- Users searching for domains don't always want to connect immediately after purchasing premium
- Free 1-year domain is a valuable included benefit that users may not realize they are entitled to claim later in their journey
- Connecting a domain increases commitment and reduces likelihood of churn

Recommendation: highlight free 1-year voucher later in the journey

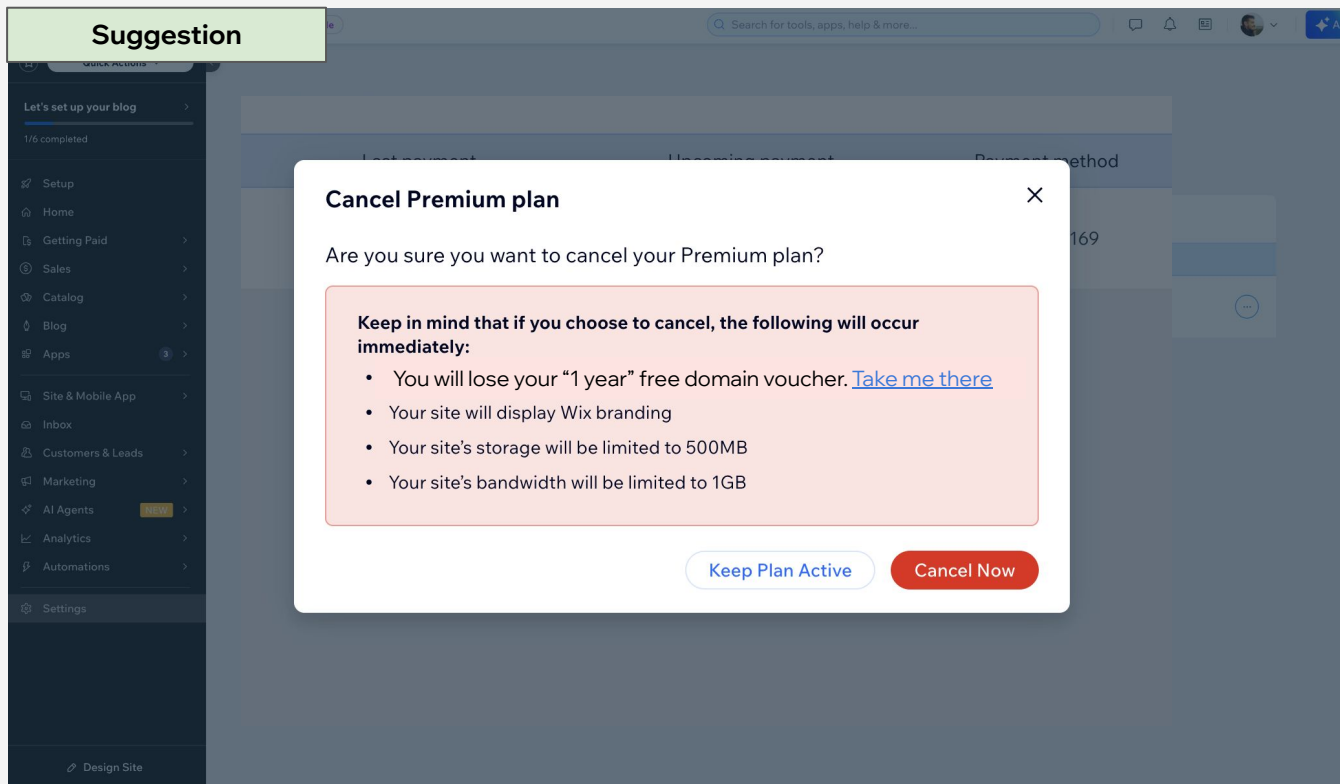

Recommendation: Promote it for eligible users in the BM assets, e.g Setup page, which is the most visited page for trial churned users

Current flow content is not personalized to the user

Recommendation: Emphasize that the users will lose a voucher that they “paid” for, redirecting to claiming the voucher

The text on the solutions is not personalized, even though user have a yearly plan with a voucher. We can promote claiming the voucher and exiting the cancelation flow

Estimated Potential

Reducing 15% of this group's trial churn worth $0.5M a year

Recommendations Summary

What we want to test	Why	Target Population and est. Exposure	Est. impact (out of TAM)
Resurface yearly value on domain flow	Motivation is to promote monthly users with intent domain to switch up to yearly package while they are “still the purchase flow”.	Monthly Premium users with domain intent	$750K ($3M)
Highlight free voucher later in journey + in cancel flow	Users searching for domains don't always want to connect immediately after purchasing premium. Free 1-year domain is a valuable included benefit and connecting a domain increases commitment.	Yearly+ Premium users not claiming voucher	$500K ($3.4M)
